

CE Program Disclosures

INS 51st Annual Meeting: San Diego 2023

Continuing Education Program Disclosure Information

As of September 29, 2022

The International Neuropsychological Society requires program planners and instructional personnel to disclose information regarding any relevant financial and non-financial relationships related to course content prior to and during course planning.

The intent of this disclosure is not to prevent a speaker with a significant financial or other relationship from making a presentation, but rather to provide listeners with information on which they can make their own judgments. It remains for the audience to determine whether speaker interests or relationships unduly influence a presentation with regard to exposition or conclusion.

Please note relevant relationship definitions below:

Relevant financial relationships are those relationships in which the individual benefits by receiving a salary, royalty, intellectual property rights, gift, speaking fee, consulting fee, honoraria, ownership interest (e.g., stocks, stock options, or other ownership interest, excluding diversified mutual funds), or other financial benefit. Financial relationships can also include "contracted research" where the institution receives/manages the funds and the individual is the principal or named investigator on the grant.

Relevant non-financial relationships are those relationships that might bias an individual including any personal, professional, institutional, or other relationship. This may also include personal interest or cultural bias.

Program Changes & Author Disclosures

Please check on-site materials and signage in San Diego, the Oxford Meeting App, or the INS Website, for final room assignments and any changes to the Final Program.

Final Addendum of Author Changes

A list of important author changes that have occurred since the time of printing will be available on-site. The online published meeting proceedings will include a final addendum with all author changes that occurred since finalization of the printed program, including author additions, author changes, and other minor adjustments.

Submitting Abstract Author Disclosures

The electronic program book, available on the INS website at www.the-ins.org/meetings/sandiego2023/program-book, contains a complete listing of submitting abstract author disclosures.

The International Neuropsychological Society requires all presenters to disclose to the audience any significant financial interest or other relationship with the manufacturer(s) of any commercial product(s) and/or provider(s) of commercial services discussed in an educational presentation and with any commercial supporters of the activity. The intent of this disclosure is not to prevent a speaker with a significant financial or other relationship from making a presentation, but rather to provide listeners with information on which they can make their own judgments. It remains for the audience to determine whether speaker interests or relationships unduly influence a presentation with regard to exposition or conclusion.

Please visit the INS website to view the electronic program book and a complete listing of submitting abstract author disclosures.
