

Application for Conference Award

The Conference Awards aims to support attendance of INS members from low/middle income countries at our annual conference. The awards target individuals who are conducting excellent research, but who might be otherwise unable to attend due to financial limitations. Student/trainee or early career INS members from low/middle income countries who have submitted abstracts for oral or poster presentations are eligible to apply. Applications will be ranked based on the quality of the abstract with additional consideration given to first time conference attendees and those with limited financial support. Each travel award includes up to $1000 USD for travel costs (hotel, transport), a waiver for registration fees, and attendance at 1 CE course. Two student/trainee awards and two early career awards are available. You may choose to:

1. Receive all funding up to $1000 USD, OR
2. Request INS cover the cost for your stay at the conference hotel upfront and request any remaining funding as a reimbursement (up to $1000 USD total value including cost of hotel).

If the Awardee receives the funds and do not travel, the money will need to be returned. We encourage Awardees to get travel insurance to reduce this risk. Specific requests should be sent to the INS office (ins@the-ins.org).

Please read the following carefully. Check each box indicating your understanding and agreement.

- I am an INS member and my dues are paid for this year.
- I have submitted a presentation. I intend to be the presenter for the poster, talk, or symposium.

Email the completed application to sciencecommittee@the-ins.org. Deadline is November 10, 2022 at 11:59 PM EST. Award winners will be notified by email approximately 2 weeks later.

Minimum Requirements (meets one of the criteria below):

Please select which category you fit in:

- Student or trainee
- Early career (within 10 years of degree completion)
- Request extension of early career (INS will honor requests consistent with NIH criteria including childbirth, medical concerns, disability, active military service, war/conflict, and natural disasters). If you are requesting extension, please indicate the number of years post degree completion and provide a brief description of the reason for the request.

Check all of the boxes that apply to you:

- Low or middle income home country (please specify): _____
Link to World Bank List of low and middle income countries
- NO other external financial sources are available to support my travel (e.g., institutional support, other grants)
- I have NEVER been to an INS conference

Additional Selection Considerations:

This award seeks to support the excellent science being conducted across the globe and across cultures. Please tell us something about neuropsychology in your country/region, and how participating in INS or attending an INS meeting would be beneficial to you or your community/country/region. Please limit to 300 words.

Name:

Email Address:

Award winners will be notified in November, 2022.